WASHINGTON – Congressman Spencer Bachus (AL-6) issued the following statement regarding the Inauguration of President-Elect Barack Obama.

“A presidential inauguration is always a special time for America and the world, because it demonstrates how power is peacefully transferred in a democracy, and our country will come together on this historic day to welcome our new president and celebrate our precious gift of freedom.”